Market Commentary

Global equity markets extended their January gains into February. The benchmark MSCI ACWI return for February was 4.50% (NZD, unhedged). That brings the 2019-year-to-date return to 9.00%. Among the major sectors, the best performers were Information Technology (7.7%) and Industrials (6.1%), while Communication Services (1.9%) and Real Estate (1.6%) showed the weakest returns. Several European equity markets gained more than 5% in February. While emerging markets lagged with a return of 1.8%, China (5.1%) and Taiwan (6.4%) performed far better than their peers. China A-shares, in particular, were very strong with gains of 15% in February. US equities took a slide early in the month on market concerns that a US-China trade deal would not be struck before the March deadline, but the S&P 500 managed to post gains through February. The Nasdaq Index outperformed the S&P 500 as Technology stocks were well supported. In particular, Cisco Systems (which makes up over 50% of the Nasdaq Tech sector) was up 8.6%. In Europe, UK equities hit a four-month high on news that the US and China were progressing on trade talks. Asian equities had a solid February across the board. Japan's Nikkei Index was boosted by Fast Retailing (comprising 9% of the Nikkei) which outperformed as tennis star Roger Federer signed with the company to become Uniqlo's global brand ambassador. Softbank, however, stole the limelight with a 22% surge on news the company invested USD 390 million in British digital bank OakNorth.

Fund Commentary

The Fund gained 5.78% in February to outperform the benchmark by 1.28%. Stock selection in several sectors added value, with the largest contributions from holdings in the Industrials, Healthcare and Consumer Discretionary sectors. Performance attribution by country shows that stock selection was strongest in China and Canada. At the fund level, the top three contributors to outperformance were the Latin American e-commerce company Mercadolibre (29%), the US defence contractor Raytheon (16%) and the Chinese video streaming business iQiyi (38%). The main detractors from performance were Amazon.com, the video games producer Activision Blizzard (-8.6%) and the Brazilian insurer, Sul America (-5.7%). Among the underlying managers, WCM (6.99%) had a very good month. Apart from weakness in Activision Blizzard (-8.6%), most of its holdings had double-digit gains in February. Its best performers were Mercadolibre (29%), Shopify (15%), Keyence (16%) and Visa Inc (13%). For Royal London (5.38%), Raytheon (16%), Old Dominion Freight Line (13.7%) and Legrand (14%) added the most value. Davis (5.12%) also continued to recover with its Chinese exposures performing well over the month. Highlights were iQiyi (35%), JD.com (11.5%) and Alibaba Group (8.6%).
