Commentary

During September the Bank of Japan (BoJ) unveiled a new policy framework which involves 'Quantitative and Qualitative Monetary Easing (QQE) with Yield Curve Control' and an 'inflation-overshooting commitment'. The measures are designed to address the impact of low yields on financial institutions.

Sterling credit markets received technical support from accommodative monetary policy, with the Bank of England (BoE) commencing its Corporate Bond Purchase Scheme (CBPS).

Government bonds displayed mixed performance over the quarter. In the US, 10-year yields closed 12 bps higher at 1.59%, UK down 12 bps to 0.75%, German 1bp up to -0.12% and Japanese up 13bps to -0.09%.

The Fund outperformed over the month and quarter ended September. Over the quarter, country allocation added the most value (+0.38%), followed by the allocation to government/ swaps and securitized securities (0.16% and 0.10% respectively). Emerging market debt detracted value (-0.07%).

Agency MBS outperformed duration-neutral US Treasuries by 64bps over the quarter. The sector benefitted from low volatility and demand from foreign investors and domestic and commercial banks looking for yield. GSAM believes collateralized loan obligations and asset backed securities offer attractive spreads with strong credit protection and remain among the most compelling sectors in securitized products.

Investment grade corporate spreads finished the quarter 134bps over sovereigns. The Fund's modest overweight reflects GSAM view that spreads could potentially drift wider in this late stage of the credit cycle. GSAM's are mindful of weakness arising from slowly deteriorating fundamentals as economic and political ramifications of Brexit begin to emerge. However, any widening of spreads is expected to be moderate given accommodative central banks programs in Europe and the UK.

Compliance

The Fund complied with its investment mandate during the month.
